

I used excel and python to generate the visualizations. In Excel, the same dataset was imported and chart tools within the software were utilized to produce similar scatter plots. Data labels and conditional formatting were applied to enhance the readability of the charts and highlight key statistics. The visualizations were crafted by first organizing the dataset into a structured format suitable for analysis. In Python, the pandas library was used to load the data into a DataFrame, allowing for manipulation and calculation of necessary metrics.